

Contents

Introduction	1	6. Leumluaths, Taorluaths and Triplings . .	71
1. An Approach to Piobaireachd	3	Leumluath - the grip	71
Piobaireachd Necessities	3	Taorluath - standard	74
Traditional Interpretations and your own musicality . . .	6	The redundant low A taorluath	80
Diverse interpretations	6	The Taorluath a mach	80
About Canntaireachd	7	The Taorluath tripling	82
Using this book	7	7. Miscellaneous Movements	89
The Recordings	7	Darodo – the bubbly note	89
Practicing the Movements: ESSENTIAL EXERCISES . . .	8	The adeda grip	90
Reprise: the bagpipe roadblock	8	The Viscount rundown	92
2. Fingering Issues	9	The Siubhal Sheumais throw	93
Straight, but not rigid	9	The Crieff variations	93
Pinky down!	10	His Father's Lament	94
Relax the Thumbs	10	8. Common Technical Variations	97
The Piobaireachd High G	11	The dithis variation	97
The Piobaireachd High A	12	The dithis doubling	98
Piobaireachd and the Highland piping tradition	13	The siubhal variation	99
3. Edres and the Crunluath	15	Siubhal up	100
Dre	15	Siubhal down	101
The closed dre and embari	18	Thumb variations	102
The fosgailte crunluath	19	The taorluath breabach	103
The standard crunluath	25	Taorluath breabach up	103
Low G crunluath	30	Taorluath breabach down	104
The closed crunluath	31	9. Tunes	105
The redundant low A	33	Introduction	105
The crunluath a mach	36	Salute on the Birth of Rory Mor MacLeod	107
Crunluath a mach: in or out?	41	The Munros' Salute	110
The crunluath breabach	42	Macintosh's Banner	114
4. Top Hand Throws and Double Echoes . .	45	Salute to the Highland Society of Scotland	118
Edre	45	Lament for the Little Supper	122
Dare and Vedare - F throws	47	10. Reading Piobaireachd Society and Kilberry Book Scores	125
Chedari - high G throw	50	Appendix A: A Reference Guide to Canntaireachd	135
Double echoes - top hand	53	Appendix B: Other Select Resources	141
5. Bottom Hand: Cadences, Hiharin, Double Echoes and More	59
Cadences	59
Hiharin	61
Harodin, horodin	63
Cadence strikes and double echoes	64
Alternative double echoes and hiharins	66
The Donald Mor or Angus Mackay run-down	68		